

Wisconsin Public Television

click to support

Be more connected

Above: Tribal elder Andy Gokee, featured in Red Cliff Ojibwe History.

You're Invited to a Free Premiere Screening in Red Cliff

Join Wisconsin Public Television (WPT) in Red Cliff, just north of Bayfield, on Friday, Nov. 18 for a premiere screening of a new episode of WPT's Tribal Histories series. Attendees will enjoy "Red Cliff Ojibwe History," the newest episode, as well as an exclusive sneak peek of the brand-new, visually stunning Wisconsin Winter From the Air. This screening is free and open to everyone. Seating in the venue is available on a first-come, first-served basis. Light refreshments will be provided.

6:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18

Legendary Waters Resort & Casino's Event Center
Located Three Miles North of Bayfield on Highway 13
37600 Onigamiing Drive, Red Cliff

Recorded in the beautiful natural settings of the regions that native people have called home for centuries, the Tribal Histories series features rich retellings of the triumphs, challenges and time-honored traditions that have shaped their vibrant communities across generations.

Red Cliff Ojibwe History features interviews with tribal elders Andy Gokee and Marvin DeFoe exploring Red Cliff history, culture and hopes for the future. Don't miss your chance to see Red Cliff Ojibwe History in its entirety on the big screen before the broadcast premiere Thursday, Dec. 15 on WPT.

Wisconsin Winter From the Air, coming to WPT Wednesday, Nov. 30, captures the wonder of winter in Wisconsin. Like the original Wisconsin From the Air, this program soars above the state to view life and landscapes from a stunning new perspective.

Special thanks to Legendary Waters Resort & Casino's Event Center for their help in presenting this special community screening.

Funding for Red Cliff Ojibwe History provided by Irene Daniell Kress, Francis A. and Georgia F. Ariens Fund of the Community Foundation for the Fox Valley Region, The Eojue Foundation, Inc., Ron and Patty Anderson, Ira and Ineva Reilly Baldwin Wisconsin Idea Endowment, Timothy William Trout Education Fund, National Endowment for the Humanities, and Friends of Wisconsin Public Television.

Wisconsin Public Television
821 University Ave. Madison, WI 53706

Wisconsin Public Television is a service of the Wisconsin Educational Communications Board and University of Wisconsin-Extension