CHILD SUPPORT UPDATE/PRESENTATION – BETTY KERR, LISA SCHWARTZ AND DAVID ARMSTRONG

Betty Kerr gives an update on the Child Support Program. The birthing cost information has been posted for the community. It has already saved tribal members $100,000. Tribal members must inform the county that they are enrolled to avoid being charged birthing costs. The program is on target with the timeline. A focus group and survey will be conducted next month.

Wisconsin Judicare has been contracted from the program to evaluate and develop Red Cliff codes as well as make recommendations to help meet the programs goals. They will be giving a presentation to the community in July 2013 on the Child Support Program.

COMMUNITY COMMENTS/ANNOUNCEMENTS

Jim Pete spoke of the current events happening at Northland College.

On March 1, 2013, Navajo code talker Chester Nez will be giving a presentation. He is the last surviving code talker. Fifty to sixty veteran organizations will be attending. On March 2, 2013, a meet and greet and book signing with Mr. Nez will be held at Legendary Waters Resort and Casino at 10:00a.m.

On March 13, 2013, the Tribal Council is invited to a flag ceremony at Northland College.

On March 23, 2013, Northland College is hosting their annual Pow-Wow.

Sandra Nevala expressed concerns over the Tribal Council's visibility at mining meetings and events. She would like to see the Chairperson at meetings more often. Rose Soulier added that the Tribal Council had passed a resolution in the past that should be re-posted for the community. There is also an informational event happening on March 28, 2013. The Tribal Council has also set aside funds for the mining committee for travel.

Gretchen Morris voiced her concerns over ECC language implementation. She doesn't agree with the methods. She also would like to see the community put more of an effort into preserving culture and language. There are gatherings on Madeline Island on March 13th and 18th. She will bring more information to the next meeting.

On February 20, 2013, the Constitution Committee will hold a public hearing at Legendary Waters on the proposed changes to the constitution. This hearing is for Tribal members only. There will be two sessions at 1:00p.m. and 4:00p.m.
